If you want to improve your leadership skills and develop to be inspirational, then keep reading. Reflection from your leadership role is critical for your understanding of your style. Many leaders end up in leadership roles because they are good at their job, not because they are good leaders. If we are not careful, we will not develop our skills further, and we will become stale in our practice. All leaders require Continued Professional Development (CPD) and effective supervision to maintain high standards. This journal will guide you in your performance as a leader. Furthermore, it will aid development using reflection and coaching questions. It provides greater knowledge of key leadership skills and encourages opportunities for personal reflection on current practice to enable a growth mindset. A journal is a fantastic resource to write your reflections every day. All you need to do is write for five minutes at the end of the working day, or before you go to bed, it is up to you. Writing in a journal can create significant changes in your life when done correctly. It's an excellent opportunity to create a habit and build this into your life and as an example, make it part of your daily routine. Our journals are different from other journals. They don't just list goals and actions for the day. Of course, this is important, but they develop these further by using coaching questions to guide you on the specific subject areas. This is aimed at individuals keen on personal improvement because we believe you can create change. Famous journal keepers include inventor Leonardo da Vinci and entrepreneur Benjamin Franklin. The coaching profession is growing and innovating. According to the International Coaching Federation (ICF), coaching earns over $3 Billion per year with over 100,000 practitioners of coaching. This book is for both practitioners and scholars of executive coaching. Coaching is an exciting and powerful skillset that allows individuals to empower others and helps individuals to generate awareness that opens the door for great levels of success. The approach of this book is to look at the theoretical framework of coaching as it applies to the actual practice of coaching others and groups. It is important to ground practice in theory and research to bring together the researched framework to help to inform the approach. There is an old proverb that states: "Theory is when you know everything but nothing works. Practice is when everything works but no one knows why." The approach of this book will enable the student with the theory, the processes and the skills to coach in a way that works and to be able to understand the why behind the success as well as make it replicable.

Executive coaching is a professional and personal development intervention that organizations introduce to address and improve those areas in managers and leaders behavior, attitude, and interactions with others that do not allow him/her to work at full potential and also to further improve one's own strengths. The end objective, besides the development of the managers and leaders, is for the organization to benefit in the long-run from the coachee's improved performance. The book provides a comprehensive overview of the executive coaching field both in terms of practice and in terms of relevant research on executive coaching outcomes. It assesses the empirical research on executive coaching outcomes and links the executive coaching field with the fields of leadership and leadership development. The book will be of value to both practitioners (coaches, HR professionals, executives, consultants etc.), academics and researchers with an interest in coaching or leadership development.
