Looking at the everyday interaction of religion and media in our cultural lives, Hoover's new book is a fascinating assessment of the state of modern religion. Recent years have produced a marked turn away from institutionalized religions towards more autonomous, individual forms of the search for spiritual meaning. Film, television, the music industry and the internet are central to this process, cutting through the monolithic assertions of world religions and giving access to more diverse and fragmented ideals. While the sheer volume and variety of information travelling through global media changes modes of religious thought and commitment, the human desire for spirituality also invigorates popular culture itself, recreating commodities – film blockbusters, world sport and popular music – as contexts for religious meanings. Drawing on research into household media consumption, Hoover charts the way in which media and religion intermingle and collide in the cultural experience of media audiences. Religion in the Media Age is essential reading for everyone interested in how today mass media relates to contemporary religious and spiritual life.

The untold story of Western intelligence in the Middle East Have Western experts fundamentally failed to understand the dynamics, leaders and culture of the Middle East? Using the most recently declassified documents, interviews and Arabic sources, the book examines seminal case studies culminating in Sadats dramatic assassination and explores how the most knowledgeable and powerful intelligence agencies in the world have been so notoriously caught off guard in this region.

A few hours after his triumph at the UN, everyone has come to consider the brilliant solutions to international problems he proposes to be some kind of miracle. Later appears all smiles and full of self-confidence at the Olympic Stadium for a ceremony that will prove to be an unprecedented spectacle. The global digital television broadcasts the crowd going wild. As he passes by with a bounce in his step and smiling cordially, a sea of hands rises, all of them making his sign. Many try desperately to touch him; he's the perfect idol of every nation, class and age. As he reaches the microphone, the stadium quakes. Millions of people are captivated. He's amazing; he's a genius; he's the hope of the world, a phenomenon, one-of-a-kind, a god! Who would believe that he's...the Antichrist? Who could resist him?
