Although not quite the stout heavy-duty performer as its big brother, the Turbo 400, the Turbo 350 transmission is a fine, durable, capable, and when modified, stout performer in its own right. Millions of GM cars and trucks have been built with Turbo 350 automatic transmissions. There always comes a time when the old transmission shows signs of wear. At some point, even the best transmissions need to be rebuilt. In GM Turbo 350 Transmissions: How to Rebuild & Modify, respected automotive technical author Cliff Ruggles guides you through the complex rebuild procedure of GM's popular rear-wheel-drive automatic transmission. With his proven style, Ruggles goes through the step-by-step rebuild and performance upgrade procedures in a series of full-color photos. He includes instruction on removal and installation, tear-down procedures, parts inspection and replacement, as well as performance mods and shift kit installation. Time-saving tips are part of every buildup as well. Automatic transmissions are a mystery to most. Even if you

Training in Denmark's motor vehicle repair and sales sector was examined in a study that included the following approaches: review of the sector's structure/characteristics, institutional/social context, changing conditions and their implications for skill requirements and training, and available initial and continuing vocational education and training; in-depth case studies of four auto repair shops and dealerships; and identification of economic, employment, and training trends. It was discovered that increasing competition within the sector has led to increasing emphasis on customers and, consequently, increased awareness that well-trained, competent workers are essential to maintaining customer loyalty. Decreasing vehicle sales and decreased need for vehicle repairs have led to falling wages and a decrease in the number of available positions in the sector. Availability of continuing vocational training varies considerably throughout the sector. Only authorized dealers and repair shops have access to importers' courses, and importers lack the capacity to meet dealer interest in their courses. Despite recent collective bargaining agreements stipulating employees' right to at least 1 week of continuing vocational training annually and despite the need for
